

Wool Shipments Decreased
DILLON, Mont. — (U.P.) — Wool shipments from the Dillon area, among the largest producing districts in Montana, totalled 2,672,155 pounds in 1932, a slight decrease over the 1931 total. The wool was shipped in 3,140 bales, comprising 84 carloads. Sale of the smallest return since 1901.

Small Wages Satisfy Teachers
MOUNTAIN HOME, Ark. — (U.P.) — Teachers in the Mountain Home College have received only $19 in salaries since September and are satisfied. The majority of the students give farm produce for their fees.

Sheriffs Walked Home
JONESBORO, Ark. — (U.P.) — Three Craighead county deputy sheriffs were recently forced to walk home from a ride. Moonshiners disabled their car while the officers were hunting a still in the woods.

The Outfall Sewer Muddle

An Editorial

Arguments opposing the outfall sewer on the part of a group representing a community which does not belong to the Metropolitan Sewer District, has no voice in the determination of its procedure, and which at the same time that it protests a plan to discharge an effluent from which the solids have been removed is now discharging raw sewage into its own harbor channel, are manifestly vulnerable. Particularly vulnerable when the great metropolis of which it is a part is also discharging 110,000,000 gallons of sewage daily into the Santa Monica bay at Hyperion without treatment except for screening through an ocean outlet which lies 56 feet below low tide depth 5600 feet off shore. Still more vulnerable, when reference to the minutes of a meeting of the city council of this same metropolis held on February 14, 1933, will disclose a report from the city engineer of the city of Los Angeles addressed to the health and sanitation committee and by that committee reported to the council stating that IT IS A FACT that in municipalities bordering on large bodies of water, AN OUTFALL SEWER IS A NECESSARY PART OF ANY SEWERAGE SYSTEM, and sufficient treatment must be had to protect public health. REPORT ADOPTED.

This action on the part of the city council of Los Angeles followed the receipt of a communication from Harbor District Political League, condemning "all outfall sewers as antiquated and unsatisfactory and recommending that the council take definite action." The letter was referred to City Engineer J. J. Jessup, and returned to the council with the above result.

The fact that the authority of the signer of the letter to style himself president of the Harbor District Political League was promptly challenged by Dr. Severson, of San Pedro, who declared himself to be the secretary of the original Harbor District Political League, adds an interesting note to the proceeding but has no bearing on the action of the Los Angeles city council which adopted the report recommending an outfall sewer as a necessary part of a municipal sewer system.

According to a map of the Pacific coast states, revised December, 1930, showing the sewage disposal of the large cities of that time, 23 cities including Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, the San Francisco Bay cities of Richmond, San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley, are discharging sewage into the ocean without treatment, while the cities of Spokane, Yakima, Vancouver, Salem, Eugene and Astoria discharge raw sewage into the rivers of their respective localities. Nine cities including Los Angeles and Long Beach and the combined group of Santa Ana, Orange, Fullerton and Anaheim, dispose of their sewage into ocean or rivers after screening. Six cities provide septic tanks from which the sewage is discharged into the ocean, and one city, Carlsbad, having a population in 1930 of 1660 people use the sedimentation process before the effluent is passed into the Pacific ocean.

A resolution adopted unanimously by the Los Angeles city planning commission, and presented to the Los Angeles city council on February 2, 1933, urged that immediate consideration be given by the council to the possibility of securing some medium of connection to the Metropolitan sewer district on the ground of the possibility of effecting quite a saving on behalf of a large number of taxpayers. It is evident therefore that the outfall proposal has some merits in the eyes of certain influential groups in the metropolis, as opposed to the action of other groups such as the Los Angeles playground commission which fears that the effluent from the outfall sewer might be carried four miles through ocean currents around the end of the breakwater to contaminate Cabrillo Beach. It is a pertinent question, which might be hard for the opponents of the outfall to answer, which method of disposal could provide the greater contamination, an effluent diluted by the action of tides and currents, or sewage discharged directly into the harbor INSIDE THE BREAKWATER.

The persistent activity on the part of a small group of opponents to the outfall sewer gives rise to the speculation whether there may exist some hidden reason for their refusal to see any merit in an outfall sewer, which obscure reason will no doubt eventually be brought to light. Whether their reasons for flouting the will of the taxpayers of the sanitation districts, and obstructing the speedy completion of the outfall will bear scrutiny under the full light of public knowledge is another subject for speculation.

Selfish interest has been known to masquerade under the guise of public benefit, but not for long. Eventually the mask is torn away and the masquerader stands revealed in his true character as a seeker for personal reward, whether it be financial or political. Opposition is opposition, whether it be stubborn and openly avowed or vacillating and hopelessly inept, and those who order their conduct along either line must be looked upon as obstructionists regardless of their attempts to explain and justify their attitude.

The public interest and the industrial interest in the city of Torrance will only be served adequately by the construction of an outfall sewer. Unemployment interests will be served in the immediate release of funds for the construction, now idly waiting the end of futile wrangling. Health interests, vital to the cities adjacent to the Pogg ranch, will be served by the abatement of the stench nuisance which will follow the disposal of sewer effluent into the ocean.

Further delay, to thresh out a problem that has been threshed over and over again for years, invariably with the result that the verdict has been in favor of an outfall sewer, will serve no good purpose. BULD THE OUTFALL SEWER NOW.

American Legion Auxiliary News

At the regular business meeting of American Legion Auxiliary, held at the club house Monday evening, two guests were introduced, Mrs. West, chairman of community service, and Mrs. Bolton, chairman of education for war orphans. Both ladies gave interesting talks.

Mrs. A. A. Strom, hospitalization chairman, announces that anyone wishing to accompany her at the regular visit to Sawtelle Tuesday, March 14, may call her at Torrance, 319-J.

Mrs. R. S. Sleeth, president, wishes to thank the many friends of the auxiliary who so generously supported the fashion review and card party, held last week.

Our Juniors

The regular business meeting of American Legion Auxiliary Juniors will be held at the club house, tomorrow, Friday, March 10, at 3:15 o'clock. All members are cordially invited.

White Canes Will Aid Blind

Hollywood Lions Club is giving 200 white canes as shown above to blind persons in Los Angeles. This notable safety plan, observes the Automobile Club of Southern California, is aimed at educating motorists to stop and allow the blind person carrying the cane to cross the street. It will also guide police officers in helping such persons in traffic.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
Hosea's exhortation, "Turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgment, and wait on thy God continually," is the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Substance" on Sunday in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.
The Lesson-Sermon contains various citations from the Bible, including the words of Jesus from the Gospel of Matthew: "Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? . . . But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."
One of the correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "Mortals must look beyond fading, finite forms, if they would gain the true sense of things. Where shall the gaze rest but in the unsearchable realm of Mind?"

READ the HERALD with SCISSORS in HAND

YOU'LL find the practice interesting, helpful and profitable. You'll find in the Torrance Herald many items that are helpful to you in carrying out your daily affairs . . . menus, household hints, club notes, health suggestions. And, probably most valuable of all, you'll find that clipping items from the advertisements not only saves you shopping time but actually accomplishes important savings in your budget.

Make your shopping list from the ads . . . then go out and buy. Show the salesmen in the stores the items that interested you in their advertisements . . . they are anxious to show you the things you want. And they appreciate that they are wise shoppers and good customers who organize their buying through the advertisements.
